

ANDROID STARTER PACK

Easy to use - Easy to sell

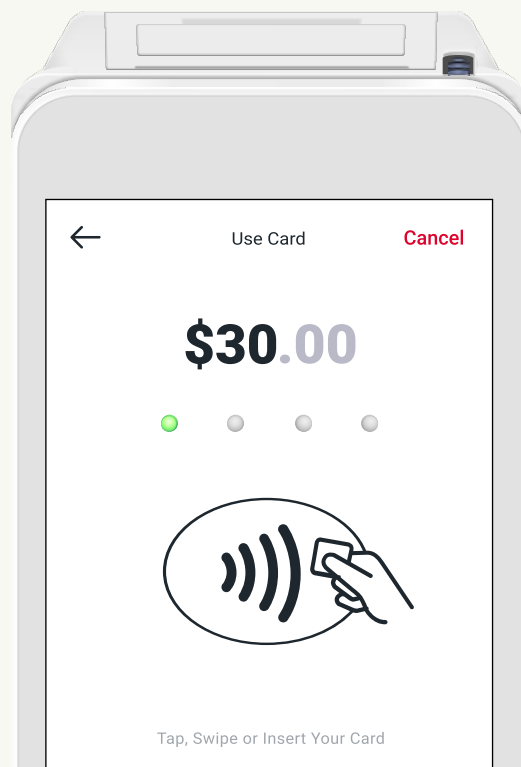

Aevi

Reduce friction with our Android-based payment solution

Today's merchant must offer consumers a seamless payment experience. Their business must address problems such as an increasing shift to contactless payment, reduced in-store density, the need to bolster curb side service and delivery, and supplementing existing goods and services with new digital offerings.

The in-person payments industry needs now, more than ever, to deliver solutions that truly make business easier. Compared to old-school payment terminals, a new and shiny Android-based payment system can transform a merchant's business for the better. Delivering our smart solution involves creating a tailored proposition to serve the needs of different merchant types and addressing the expectations of individual merchants.

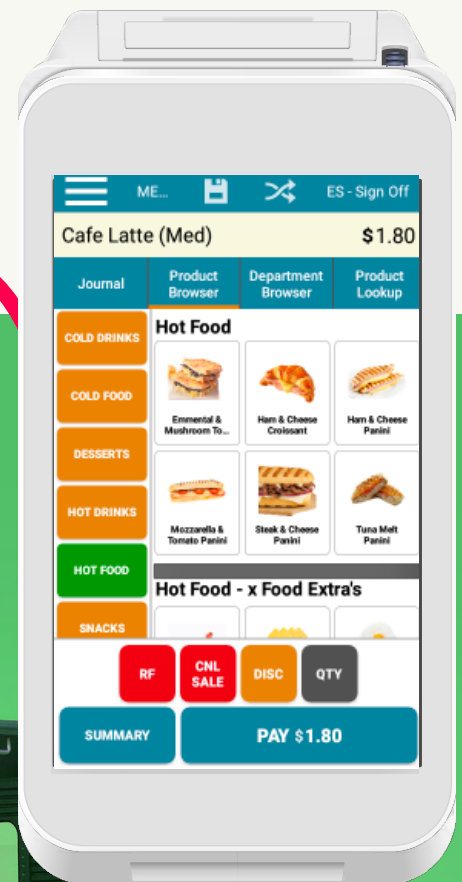

The Android Starter Pack is an approach that unites the digital with the physical world, payments with data. If your merchants are currently suffering from a basic payment offering with little Point-Of-Sale capability, and are ready to step into the smart world, we can enable you to take them there.

Introducing the all-in-one Android Starter Pack

A future-proof payment solution your merchants will love. Offer entry level, ready-to-go merchant solutions by combining payment acceptance and light business enablement in a highly integrated, compact way. With our Android Starter Pack we offer you a low-risk entry point into the smart market.

About Aevi

Setting payments free

The in-person payment experts, we bring all your transactions together on one open platform.

Keeping you one step ahead of whatever comes next in payment tech.

Reinventing an industry

We believe in-person payments should be as innovative as online payments.

As the inventor of the first ever smartPOS, we've always driven change. Now fully cloud-based, our platform lets our customers and partners embrace the latest payment tech – and empowers their businesses with unprecedented data.

Breaking down barriers

The in-person payment world is trapped in the same old systems while technology moves on around it.

We're setting payments free with an open platform defined by flexibility. Completely device agnostic, it puts all our customers firmly in control.

Partnering with the world

We can't change the payment game on our own. So we're starting a movement where everyone can win.

Like our platform, we're open to the world and inspired by collaboration. Bringing all industry partners together across the value chain, we create the best possible customer experience.
